In the beginning...

1941 - Uncle John J. O’Rourke, a veteran of Jack’s Lunch, purchases the old wooden Dunn’s Diner

1946 - Uncle John replaces the diner with a brand new sparkling Mountain View diner to accommodate the growing crowds

1959 - Brian O’Rourke, as a young lad, peels potatoes and retrieves milk and soda bottles for his Uncle John

1962 - Brian grills his first order of eggs!

1966 - As a high school honors student, Brian works up to 40 hours per week, in addition to delivering newspapers. (He still speaks of 8 hours of sleep a week, whether he needs it or not!)

1977 - Uncle John retires. Brian O’Rourke and his cousin, John Sweeney O’Rourke buy the diner. Brian’s culinary talents emerge in the form of wonderful soups like Irish stew and roasted plum tomato

1985 - Brian buys out his cousin to “take the diner to the next level”. He uses his experiences throughout the ’80s in the kitchen of New Orleans, Bartra (Ireland), and the Caribbean to reinvent the omelet. This is the beginning of O’Rourke’s Diner as we know it - a cross-section of humanity with amazing culinary artistry!

August 31, 2006 - O’Rourke’s Diner is decimated by fire

September 2006 - February 2008 - The community unites to “raise the phoenix from the flames!”
